About The Artist

Born in Massachusetts in 1965 Roland St. John has always had a passion for nature since childhood. Now an experienced diver and underwater videographer for over 30 years he has filmed some of the most spectacular marine life around the world.

Using the footage for reference while sculpting enables him to create incredibly detailed and life-like work.

The footage then enables Roland to capture the animals in motion, which helps him to sculpt realistic as well as his modern works of art. His passion for our Oceans has led him to use his art to help create awareness and become involved in protecting threatened species around the world.

Big Blue - Aquatic Gifts started in 1997 and now offers over 200 different styles including Jewelry, Bronze Sculptures, and Home Decor, all Made In the USA.

Roland is a supporter of The Sea Shepherds Conservation Society creating and donating art to help Canadian seals, dolphins, whales, sharks, turtles, and other marine life. He is also on the Board of directors for SOLO (Save Our Leatherbacks Operation) Founded by Larry McKenna, to help save the critically endangered Pacific Leatherback sea turtles.

Roland has been working with Shark Angels Founder Julie Andersen and Director of Operations Jamie Pollack and their mission to educate worldwide and ban the sale and distribution of shark fin products.

In 2009 Roland St. John was inducted into the Ocean Artist Society Founded by Wyland, Guy Harvey, and Bob Talbot. Uniting Artists to inspire people around the world to help preserve our natural world.

"We need to educate and connect people with nature so they can truly appreciate it. Only then will they begin to help protect it."

Julie Andersen
Founder Shark Angels

SHARK ANGELS employ innovative education, media and advocacy programs to protect sharks, the ocean's apex species. The health of the world's oceans depends on healthy and thriving shark populations, and every creature on earth depends on healthy oceans for survival.

With up to 73,000,000 sharks killed a year, shark populations are down over 90% and many species could go extinct during our lifetimes. SHARK ANGELS believe that grassroots outreach, viral media, and creative campaigns often aimed at teaching and inspiring youth will create a global, positive movement to save sharks – and the oceans. And it's working. For over five years, SHARK ANGELS has been involved in some of the most compelling and highest impact ocean campaigns around the world.

By supporting SHARK ANGELS with your donations, you'll fuel these campaigns and play a vital role in protecting not just a threatened species, but the oceans. LEARN MORE WWW.SHARKANGELS.ORG

The goal of Sharks4Kids is to create the next generation of shark advocates through education, outreach and adventure. The team brings together scientists, educators, conservationists and professional videographers to create a unique opportunity for the next generation to learn why sharks need kids and kids need sharks.

Using a dynamic range of educational materials and experiences, Sharks4Kids is changing fear to fascination. Free curriculum, activities, videos and more are available to download from the website.

From Nov 2013 to December 2017, Shark4Kids spoke to over 75,000 students in classrooms from 44 different countries. They have run in person education programs in 11 countries including St. Maarten, The Bahamas, Guatemala and Singapore. They also offer hands on experiences for students including shark and ray field trips as well as participation in shark tagging expeditions.

Kids can make a difference and Sharks4Kids was founded to inspire and empower students from around the world to be ambassadors for sharks and the oceans. By supporting Sharks4Kids, you are providing students with access to educational materials as well as incredible opportunities to see sharks up close and to study them.

Best Fishes, Jillian
